It was announced today by former Republican Legislator Jasper Lycette that he had requested a recount of the vote cast by Houlton voters in the June Republican primary election.

Mr. Lycette finished third in the balloting for the two nominations to run for Representative to the Legislature losing out by only four votes. Floyd Haskell led the ballot with 458 votes while incumbent Malcolm Berman was second with 339 votes to fellow incumbent Lycette's 335. The fourth candidate, Glen Philbrick, tallied 92 votes.

Mr. Lycette stated that he had asked for a recount from the Secretary of State's office at the request of many friends. He added that the many calls from his supporters had motivated him to request the recount. He also added that the date for the recount had not been set by the Secretary of State.

Dunn Funeral To End Ambulance Service In 1969

The Houlton Town Council was informed by the Dunn Funeral Home that effective February 1, 1969 ambulance service will be discontinued by the funeral home.

The matter was discussed at a special Council meeting held June 29.

Councilman Dr. John Madigan had recently been appointed to chairmanship of a committee of the Council to study the possibility of a community ambulance service.

It has been reported that both the Aroostook Hospital and Madigan Memorial Hospital will be discussing the situation at their next regular meetings.

Shute Favors State Control Of Gun Laws

Bangor — "The retail sale of firearms should be regulated on a state to state basis with only minimum federal law or standard guidelines," Second District Congressional candidate Elen H. (Denny) Shute, Jr., of Farmington, stated the other day in a Bangor interview. "I am a hunter myself," Shute said, "and have no interest in seeing a law that would require all owners of firearms to turn in their weapons. This to me is an emotional rebound from what is admittedly a tragic series of political murders."

Shute further stated after the interview that he felt there was need for apprehension of what federal laws may be passed in the wave of emotionalism. His opposition, incumbent Congressman William D. Hathaway, had stated in the same interview that, "There is no need for Maine people to be apprehensive that gun control laws will erode their freedom." Shute said that this was "hog-wash", that more and more federal laws are restricting the freedom of State's and individual's rights.

"I don't think any legislation," continued Shute "is an effective control to prevent crackpots, insane people or criminals for using guns illegally." Shute, who is a state representative, felt that "firearms should be subject to regulation in the same way that we regulate drugs, liquor, automobiles and even marriage, if that qualifies. Therefore, it makes sense to me to regulate rather than outlaw the sale and use of firearms." He concluded by saying that talk favoring gun controls "is highly emotional thing that people see as a quick cure and that is ridiculous."

30,129 Acres Of Sugar Beets Have Been Planted

A total of 30,129 acres sugar beets has been contracted with Maine Sugar Industries, Inc. of Easton, Luman P. Mahany, president of the Maine Sugar Beet Growers Association, said this week.

"The future of this industry in Maine is evidently assured now when you look at the figures of the past two commercial years. In 1966 Maine farmers contracted for about 3,400 acres. In the second commercial year, 1967, approximately 9,600 acres were under contract," the Association official pointed out.

"With the acreage we have this year, there is little doubt that next year and in the years to come we will far surpass the allotment of 33,000 acres originally given Maine," he said.

Presently, the sugar beets in Maine look good. The pelletized seed spaced planting method, which was employed by generally all farmers, has eliminated the need for hand thinning provided, the proper spacing was employed at planting time. This space planting is a substantial improvement over the sow and thin method employed in 1966 and 1967. Mahany pointed out.

In addition, the new herbicides which were employed this year for the control of weeds, both pre-emergence and post-emergence have shown, provided proper use of these new herbicides is employed, that weeds in sugar beets are no longer a problem. Thus, the elimination of hand weeding of sugar beets, although not accomplished this year in all cases, does not appear to be improbable in future years, he said.

"The present crop, which is employing the technology and past experiences of the last two years, in my opinion has the potential of a big improvement over the tonnage received in the past years. If such tonnage is achieved, I am looking for a further large increase for Maine of sugar beets in 1969," according to Mahany.

James E. Bernard, manager of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, ASCS Office at Presque Isle, congratulated the growers of Maine on the contracting of 30,129 acres of sugar. He has personally inspected many fields of sugar beets and they seemed to him to be "really jumping up" in all areas in spite of the dry weather which is presently prevalent in Aroostook County. "The deep roots of the sugar beets seem to be in areas of soil moisture and dry weather does not seem to affect sugar beets as much as other crops," he said. In addition, he commented that the space planting of sugar beets with the pelletized seed is a tremendous improvement over the previous years.

Bernard also pointed out that "the fine weather which we are presently having in Aroostook County is an opportune time to get the sugar beet fields properly cultivated and in good shape." Bernard said that based upon present prospects of sugar beets in Aroostook County that further substantial increase in plantings were very likely in 1969.

"I would like to congratulate the sugar beet industry which contracted 30,129 acres of sugar beets in Maine in 1968. This amount of contracts is a substantial improvement over 1967 in which approximately 9,600 acres were contracted, and in 1966 in which 3,400 acres were contracted. A lot of work and energy went into an accomplishment such as this. Many people in all phases of the agricultural community played a part in bringing this acreage to Maine." That was the comment this week from Fred H. Vahlsing, Jr., president of New England's first and only sugar beet processing plant, Maine Sugar Industries, Inc.

The most notable development of the 1968 season was (Please Turn To Page 2)

Local Teacher Is Delegate To NEA Convention

The convention, which runs from July 2 to 6, will set policy for the NEA, which has more than a million members throughout the nation. A major issue at the convention will be expanding participation by teachers in the school system decisions that affect their classroom work.

Mrs. Nelder is a member of the Maine Teachers Association, Representative Assembly, and a past president of the Houlton Teachers Association and the Aroostook County Elementary Principals Association.

She is mother advisor of Houlton Rainbow Assembly N. 26 and State Mother Advisor.

Council Accepts Dump Ordinance; Hears Junk Law

The Houlton Town Council accepted the new "dump ordinance" at their regular meeting Monday night in the Council Chambers at the municipal building. The new ordinance was accepted as read and will become law in seven days, on July 17.

Some of the provisions of the new ordinance will allow Council to designate locations and hours for town dumps. It also provides for Council negotiating with other neighboring communities for use of the facilities of the local dump. It will also allow Council to negotiate in the future with a firm in the event that the Town starts a community garbage service.

One of the sections of the new ordinance makes it unlawful for any one to place garbage in any receptacle of the Town's or on any property of the Town.

Regulations for the operation of the new land fill dump will be discussed at the next regular meeting of the Town Council scheduled for July 22. The tentative hours for use of the dump under the new ordinance will be from 8 a.m. to 12 noon and from 12:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday. The dump will be closed Thursday and Sunday of each week.

Junk Yard Permits Denied — Three permits to operate a junk yard while two others were denied. Approved by Council and granted were permits for George Leveau, Tingley Brothers and Philip Adler.

Requests by Crawford's Auto Mart and Earl McCluskey were denied subject to improvements to their premises as recommended by chief of police Donald Dow and Henry Elliott of the Maine State Highway Commission.

Mr. Elliott appeared at the hearing and gave reports on the applicants. Mr. Elliott inspected the premises of the applicants as required by State law. He explained that the laws relative to the operation of a junk yard have been in effect since 1943 and that the commission is going to see that they are complied with from now on.

Mr. Elliott informed Council that the authority for enforcing the laws is within the jurisdiction of the local police force at request of the municipal officers.

The statutes relative to violations call for a fine of not less than $100 per offense and can go as high as $500. Jail sentences of 90 days for noncompliance can also be imposed.

Mr. Elliott also told Council that there is a "nuisance law" that applies to individuals or any form of business that causes junk in any form to collect on their property. He informed Council that any car that can not qualify for an inspection ticket is subject to this law. The fine for noncompliance is $100. This statute applies to any individual or company that has an automobile on their premises that is not registered and can not qualify for inspection.

Following a discussion over the problem of junked cars and metals, Council formed a committee of Town Manager Benson and highway superintendent Gus Porter to investigate the possible location of a metals dump. This would provide a dump for all forms of metal junk such as old cars, refrigerators, washers, etc.

Upon request of Council, Town Attorney Asa Roach appeared and discussed certain legal opinions that had been sought.

Mr. Roach offered the opinion that a request by Bernard Maher for permission to construct a street less than 50 feet in width as required by ordinance could not be allowed by Council, as no provision in the ordinances allowed for acceptance of any street by the Town of any lesser width than that so stated.

Town Attorney Roach also advised Council that any appeal of a decision of the judgement of the Zoning Board of Appeal must be made to superior court as provided by statute. He advised Council that there is no provision for an appeal to be made to the Council. He stated that the Board may grant a variance from the terms of the ordinance to (Please Turn To Page 2)

Stieler Named Assessor At Special Council Meeting

The Houlton Town Council in a special meeting held Tuesday afternoon appointed H. Carlisle Stieler as single tax assessor for the completion of the 1968 tax year.

According to Town officials Mr. Stieler will start preparing the tax bills and will hear all complaints. The selection of Mr. Stieler was made by members of the Council by written ballot. Council had previously made arrangements for hiring an assessor from another town, but were forced to make another appointment when the original replacement for former assessor Richard Hamilton decided not to accept the position.

Stieler's appointment is until the 1968 tax billing is completed. The salary for this position will be $4,000 and the assessor will have the right to hire an assistant.

The position of tax assessor has been vacant since the resignation of Richard Hamilton on April 8 of this year. Mr. Hamilton had served in that capacity for three years.

Stieler recently retired from the J.C. Kenney Company after serving as manager of the Houlton store for many years.

Town Councilman Owen Hannigan voiced his dissatisfaction with the appointment, following the completion of the special meeting. Hannigan suggested that the entire Council should resign and hold a special election for the offices vacated.

Councilman Hannigan stated that the Council had been at complete disagreement for some time on the manner in which to handle the tax assessing situation for the Town, and that a complete resignation of the Council would permit the people to have their opinions voiced by holding the special election.

Experimental Seedlings Are Planted In Houlton

The Houlton Parks and Recreation Department has recently completed the planting of forty potted trees and shrubs from the Arnold Arboretum of Harvard University, Jamaica Plain, Mass.

During 1967, the Parks and Recreation Department found there was a great need for additional trees and shrubs in the parks of Houlton as many trees were being cut down due to disease. A request by the department was made to the University of Maine regarding suggestions for the types best suited for this area. The request was referred to the Arnold Arboretum who was in the process of procuring sites in Northern Maine for a testing program to obtain more accurate information on the hardiness of certain landscape plants in colder areas.

The department was happy to join the other 24 cooperators in Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont and by so doing received free of charge and were responsible for planting some forty kinds of plants and trees in the parks of Houlton during June of this year. Houlton was one of seven sites chosen in Maine for the experiment.

Harrison L. Flint, associate horticulturist at the Arnold Arboretum delivered the potted plants and trees and also briefed the members of the department in the proper planting procedures and locations needed for the plants.

Most of the species are of questionable hardiness but it is possible that many will endure the colder climates and in a few years will add beauty to our park areas.

Each year in June a few new plants will be delivered and at that time observations and suggestions will be made concerning their growth and care. Because of the construction now in progress at Monument Park most of the trees were planted in other areas. They are located as follows: Gentle Building grounds 20; White Building, 2; picnic area at Community Park, 3; Merce Park, 5 and Monument Park, 7.

The trees included pine oak, scarlet oak, black oak, seven varieties of "pfitzer" juniper and other evergreen shrubs, magnolia, american holly, cotoneaster, barberry, rhododendron, winterberry, cockspear viburnum, bayberry, hydrangea, viburnum, sweet gum, gingko, and others.

Some trees will grow to 75 and 125 feet while others will be from 2 to 6 feet. The plants will be cared for by the maintenance men of the Recreation and Parks Department. If at a later date it seems advisable to move some of them to other locations, maps have been made to locate and describe types.

Medicine during the 18th— and well into the 19th— century was a rudimentary science. If the illness or injury were serious, chances of recovery were minimal. Therefore, money for higher education went for the training of clergymen. In this way their souls, if not their bodies, would be taken care of. But when sickness or injury struck, the same clergymen was called on for medical help. the spaced planting of the pellitized sugar beet seed, which if properly accomplished, eliminates all hand thinning of sugar beets.
The second most notable development of 1968 was the improvement of the new herbicide for weed control. These new herbicides, when properly used, effectively controlled all types of weeds and grasses eliminating the hand weeding of sugar beets, he said.
Presently, the fine weather we are having in Aroostook County is giving the growers an opportunity to properly cultivate and side-dress, along with post-emergence weed control their sugar beet fields.
The sugar beet plant at this stage does not need a lot of moisture; its roots go deep and presently the weather we are having is ideal for sugar beet culture," Vahlsing said.
Within a week to ten days most of the fields of sugar beets planted in Aroostook County will be cultivated and brought into top condition and a gentle, good rain at that time would be well-timed and advantageous, according to Vahlsing.

Pioneer Times Team Holds 5-5 Record For The Season

One of the teams in the Houlton American Little League circuit is the Pioneer Times, who at this writing were holding a 5-5 record for the season.

The Coach Phil Hill and Manager Vaughn Shaw are both in their first year of Houlton's little league. Hill has done some coaching before coming to Houlton at Calais and Shaw had been active in this program in the Mars Hill area before moving to Houlton.

The team has 14 members with four leaving this year after the regular season as they will be over the age limit. Steve Wiggins, Gary Hill, Tommy Reed and Terry Lee will be playing their last little league games for the Pioneer Times this month on July 30 when they meet the Water Company team.

The Pioneer Times team this season has Frank MacPartland, Terry Lee and Gary Hill as their pitchers, while Kenny Hill and Matt Rush share the catching assignment.

The infield has Gary Hill at first, Tommy Reed as second, Frank MacPartland at short and Steve Wiggins at third. The outfielders include William Miller, James Miller, Earl Ayotte, Terry Lee and Mark Gervis.

The Pioneer Times will play their next game on July 17 as they battle the top team in Houlton American league, the Elks. With only three more weeks to go in this little league program the Pioneer Times team could be the spoilers. They were scheduled to play the Elks last night. The Elks with a record of 7-1 need only a few more wins to top the title, but with next Wednesday's game slated between these two teams, a win for the Pioneer Times could move them right into contention.

Houlton Nine Schedules Four Games

The Houlton semi-pro baseball team has scheduled four more games for the month of July.

This Sunday at Bob Ruth field, the locals will play Limestone starting at 2 p. m. and Joe Barlock, Jr. or Wayne Dwyer is expected to draw the pitching assignment.

Next Thursday, July 18 the Houlton team will travel to Hartland for a return game with the Canadians and on Sunday, July 21 a doubleheader is scheduled at Guilford.

Houlton holds wins over Limestone and Hartland, N.B. but this will be the first meeting of the season between the Houlton and Guilford teams. Guilford is presently leading the semi-pro league in their district and have suffered only one loss so far this year.

Houlton In 7-0 Shut Out Win Over Hartland

The Houlton semi-pro baseball team collected their fourth win of the season Sunday behind the three hit pitching of Wayne Dwyer as they shut out Hartland, N.B. 7-0 at Bob Ruth field.

The Houlton team scored two runs in the first inning and collected four more in the bottom of the second before scoring their last run in the seventh. Houlton's two runs in the first inning came across the plate after Spike Savage laid down a bunt, and scored on a triple by Pee Wee Gallop. Gallop later scored the second run on an infield out.

Houlton's big rally came in the second when Dennis Codrey and Gerry Dwyer smashed doubles and an infield single by Spike Savage led the attack. Two bases on balls and an error were also key factors in Houlton's four run output.

Dwyer, in going the distance for the locals, struck out eight batters and walked one in his first pitching assignment.

Houlton is holding a 4-5 season going into the weekend games.

Highlights In Sports by Larry Reece

It's batter up in Houlton's little league "All Star" game next Wednesday night as the annual clash between the top performers of the American and National leagues battle for the right to represent Houlton in the County play-offs later this month.

Every year the coaches get together for their selections of the top 14 youngsters in their league. This gives 28 youngsters a chance to represent their leagues in what has been termed some of the best little league games in this section. The selections are strictly those of the coaches and little leaguers selected from the ten different teams in the Houlton circuit.

All season the youngsters played against each other, but when the "All Star" game is played little leaguers from all five teams in their league make up the team. For instance in the National league where the competition is hot, O'Donnell's Express and First National Bank the defending champions are fighting for the title, but during this game the youngsters play together for the first time during the summer as team-mates. The coaches and managers selected are the defending champions of their league. This year Carl Duff, who is coach of the Elks the defending champions in the American league stepped down because of his work commitments. Duff still coaches the Elks team in the American league and presently is holding the sunspot with a 7-1 record. This year it was voted by the American league officials that Percy McPhee would coach the American league "All Stars" and Bob Trickey will be manager.

In the American league Leo Ireland who coached the defending league championship First National Bank team will handle the coaching while Robert Carpenter will manage.

Wayne Dwyer, who has been catching and pitching for the newly formed semi-pro baseball team in the Shiretown, was awakened by a telephone call Sunday morning at 1 a. m. Dwyer, who answered the phone call, was surprised when he found out it was from the coach of Kingman's baseball team who wanted nothing more than to find out if Houlton would play them this Sunday.

Dwyer has stated this week that present plans call for a game between Houlton and Kingman later this summer, but made no announcement Tuesday of the date. The Houlton team will play Limestone this Sunday and travel to Guilford on July 31.

The urgent request issued by local fish and game club president Bob English for new members has been answered by some local residents. English mentioned earlier this week that over 30 new members have paid their dues and joined the local sports club. Presently their only project is the raising of pheasants, but others will be scheduled if the membership continues to build.

The 400 pheasants ordered by the local fish and game club is expected to arrive in Houlton in the near future and will be released in the fall.

Some have mentioned that these birds are all shot off during the fall hunting season, but this writer has seen a few that have missed the hunter's sights. It's too bad that more things couldn't be done by the local club, but maybe if a bigger interest is shown future events and programs can be slated.

In last week's issue of the Pioneer Times an article was printed in regards to seeking a team name for the newly formed Houlton semi-pro team. A deadline was set for Monday, July 15 and the winner would receive a free pass to all of Houlton's baseball games in the future.

As yet no replies have been received to supply this team with a name. You still have a few more days so why not get out a card today with your suggestions on it and mail it to Team Name, P. O. Box 446, Houlton.

This year as everyone knows who reads the sports pages of this weekly paper, Houlton has been without a semi-pro team for several seasons. This summer through the efforts of some former high school and college ball players in the area a team was started.

So far this season the Houlton team has played nine games and hold a mark of 4-5. With at least ten more games scheduled before the end of the season, the team is looking for a 50-50 mark.

Next year it's hoped that Houlton will be able to join a baseball league in this section. Former great for the Houlton Collegians, Cliff MacQuarrie, is presently coaching the Houlton team and has hopes of getting Houlton into such a circuit next year.

Just for the youngsters who read this, Cliff MacQuarrie was a catcher on a Houlton semi-pro team named the Collegians back in the 40's who won over 30 straight games before they were finally stopped.

Let's get a team name on a card now as you may receive a free pass for Houlton's home games.

Houlton Drops Two Games To East Millinocket Team

The East Millinocket Ruffians took both ends of a doubleheader baseball bill on July 4th at Bob Ruth field against the Houlton semi-pro team. The first tilt gave the Ruffians an 8-6 edge, while the nightcap produced an 8-5 setback for the Houlton club in ten innings.

In the afternoon clash the East Millinocket team raced out in front in the first three innings and scored seven runs. The Houlton team scored their biggest run barrage in the fourth with three runs across the plate, but the big lead built up by the Ruffians was the difference in this first encounter. Gerry Dwyer started for the locals and was relieved in the third by Joe Barlock, Jr. Barlock came in and shut the door on the visitors as they managed to score only one more run in the last six innings.

The nightcap saw the Houlton team score two runs in the bottom of the ninth inning and tie the score at 3-3. The extra inning proved to be the best of the day as the Ruffians came up with five runs, while the Houlton team scored twice before their rally was stopped.

Houlton's Gerry Dwyer was on the mound for the locals and held the Ruffians to single runs in the first, third and ninth, but was hit hard in the extra inning, which decided the outcome.

The Houlton Parks and Recreation Department announces that the Personna Baseball Grand Slam Contest will be held Thursday, July 25 at 3:30 p. m. at the Houlton Community Park. If it should rain on that day it will be held on Friday the 26th of July at the same time and place.

Bill MacManus, director of Parks and Recreation and also the contest director stated that all boys between the ages of 8 to 13 are eligible to enter this contest. The contest is based on the performance of a boy in three events — running, throwing, and batting (off a tee).

A boy who enters has the opportunity to win the local, state, zone, and then the Nationals. All boys who enter have the chance to win in their respective age divisions. There is also a chance to win a "I Beat Yax" button based on the total score each boy earns.

There is also being planned a baseball clinic before the contest starts demonstrating the fundamentals and techniques that are involved in the contest events.

Boys are reminded that the contest is free and that entry blanks are available at the Recreation Center.

Geese Stocked By F&G Dept.

Operation Goose Transplant, a highly successful project which has given Maine a small nesting population of Canada geese, was recently repeated according to the Department of Inland Fisheries and Game. Three hundred geese, of all ages, were recently stocked on several different Game Management Areas. These geese were live-trapped at the Brigantine National Wildlife Refuge in New Jersey and transported to Maine via truck by personnel of the Maine Department of Inland Fisheries and Game.

Once in Maine all the geese were banded with the standard aluminum U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service leg bands, and also with various colored vinyl plastic leg bands which are color-coded according to the area in which they were released. Therefore, any reports of observations of these geese should include date, place of observation, and color markings. Reports may be sent directly to J. Wm. Peppard, Migratory Bird Research leader, Bldg. no. 15, University of Maine, Orono, Maine 04473.

Conservation Notes

BY NORRIS BRALEY
USDA SOIL CONSERVATIONIST

Burns Henderson, Houlton; Cook Brothers, Bridgewater; Crouse Farms Inc., Patten, and Dennis Kingsbury and Louis Grass of Bridgewater are a few of the cooperators of the Southern Aroostook Soil and Water Conservation District that have put in drainage tile this spring. A number of jobs are ready to start. If you are planning to do conservation this summer and need technical assistance, you should contact our office so we can try to schedule our time for you.

Mike Brown, Walter Delong and John Grass of Monticello have constructed sodwater ways and diversion ditches and established strip cropping to help control runaway water on their farms. Robert and Wayne Heath, Patten, have also done a lot to control erosion. When these farms lose their top soil, we all lose, not just the farmer. When silt gets into the brook, we lose fish; when it goes into the road ditch, it costs too much money to get it cleaned out. I feel we should give these fellows credit for working to conserve their resources in that it will make a better place for us to live.

Supervisors Meeting
According to Henry McBride, Chairman of the Board of Supervisors of the Southern Aroostook Soil and Water Conservation District, the regular meeting will be held July 10th at 7:30 in the district office.

The Supervisors are planning a conservation tour sometime in August to show people what is being done by the district to help land owners. The date will be set shortly. Be sure to attend.

Houlton High School Class Of '18 Holds 50th Reunion

The Houlton High School class of 1918 celebrated their 50th reunion Saturday evening in the Elm Room at the Northland Hotel where a banquet was served at 6:30. James Wilson of Millinocket, who served as the class president during their four years in high school, acted as Master of Ceremonies. The blessing for the occasion was asked by Bert Smith.

Mrs. Alene Smith was in charge of the music which was interspersed throughout the dinner hour with the group singing songs popular in 1918 and an original alumni song of '68 and "Bless This Class" written by Mrs. Smith for the reunion.

Each lady was presented with a corsage made by classmate Marion McKenney, who also had charge of the table decorations. The arrangements being done in the class colors of purple and green.

Posters of previous reunions, highlights of the class of 1918 and pictures of deceased members were arranged by Mrs. Mildred Whited, and on display.

Following dinner Mr. Wilson welcomed the class and reminisced concerning their school days. Olin Berry of Presque Isle, Fla. also spoke briefly to the class members.

Letters were read from class members unable to attend and a telegram from London, England, from Katherine Sinton.

Manter was also read. A 50th Reunion Booklet compiled by Alene Smith was given to each classmate. This contained all the highlights of the class of 1918, and present addresses of the remaining 27 members living.

Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Olin Berry, Presque Isle, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Carroll, New Denmark, N.B., Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Grant, Venice, Fla., Mr. and Mrs. James Wilson, Millinocket, Dr. and Mrs. Frank Sleeper, Augusta, Mr. J. Elizabeth Ann Smart Is Wed To Gregory A. Grant

MRS. GREGORY ALLEN GRANT
(Elizabeth Ann Smart)

Baskets of white gladiolus and Fuji mums decorated the altar of our lady of Wisdom Chapel, at the University of Maine, for the 2 o'clock wedding, Saturday, July 6th, when Miss Elizabeth Ann Smart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Atwood O. Smart, of Mendonbrook, Pa., became the bride of Gregory Allen Grant, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ward A. Grant, of Bangor.

The Rev. Paul B. Archambault officiated. Mr. Daniel LeBlanc was the organist. Given in marriage by her father, the bride's formal gown of silk organza was designed with a fitted bodice, A-line skirt and chapel length train. Alcon lace appliques, reembodying with pearls and sequins, accented the wide wedding ring neckline, cap sleeves and bodice. An elegant cluster of lace petals formed a headpiece from which flowed a shoulder length illusion veil. Eucharis lilies, white roses and stephanotis formed the bride's cascade bouquet over white satin streamers.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Smart chose a line green Schiffl embroidered dress ensemble with matching accessories, and a corsage of a cymidium orchid. Mrs. Grant, the bridegroom's mother, was dressed in mauve silk shantung, with a head-band and corsage of burgundy miniature carnations.

The groom's brother was his best man, Mr. Rodney E. Grant of Plainville, Conn. The ushers were Ward A. Grant, 2nd, and Edward Farwell, Jr. of Bangor, and Fred A. Beck of Presque Isle.

After a reception held in the Imperial Rooms in Brewer, the bridal couple left on a honeymoon to Lake George, N.Y. The bride is a graduate of the University of Maine and was employed with Corn Products Sales Co. The groom plans on continuing his studies at the University of Maine.

A vote for Polyram and Thiodan is a vote for a higher yield of No. 1 potatoes.

Polyram/Thiodan is the team that will sweep the field - of insects and disease.

Polyram is the all-season fungicide that battles both early and late blights (potato growers have already voted it in by a landslide).

Seek Suggestions

The Parks and Recreation Dept. would appreciate any suggestions that the townspeople would have concerning any improvements or new ideas that would help our entire program.

The only way the Department can start new programs is when the people will show interest.

Some suggestions that have been made: 1) Hovey Hill Ski Area 2) horseshoe pits 3) restarting women's exercise class during winter and possibly a men's jogging club.

If you have any comments on past or present or "light bulb" ideas feel free to contact us at the Recreation Center — 2-2209 or write.

Playground Open

The community park playground reopened Monday with a good turnout of children. This week's activities include numerous games and arts and crafts projects plus the weekly cookout on every Wednesday, a tetherball tourney, and also preparing of materials for the annual "Peanut Carnival". Boys and girls are urged to come to the playground to check on the "new look" on the playground.

Rec. Dept. News

Roving Supervisor

Parents and boys and girls are reminded that the parks and recreation dept. has a playground director that goes to each school playground in the morning from 9 to 12 noon. The program of this "roving supervisor" is of games and arts and crafts. The schedule is: Fair Street, Mon. and Fri.; Longfellow, Tues. and Thurs. and Bowdoin, Wed.

The idea of the "roving supervisor" is that some younger children cannot go to Community Park because of distance so we send the playground to them. Hopefully in the future, playgrounds that are open all day and supervised will be established.

INTERNAL REVENUE

A representative of the Internal Revenue Service will be in the local office at the Post Office Building from 12 noon to 5 p.m. on Monday, July 8, 1968, to assist the public in any type of Internal Revenue problem.

PAINTING THE TOWN - Applying some modern artistic designs to the shacks being used by contractors of the new Cary Library addition has been the project of some of the younger people of the community. Rather colorful and perhaps gaudy designs have been applied to the temporary buildings located in Monument Park. More artwork is being added daily. (Pioneer Times Photo)

Today's Car, Tomorrow's Junk

The Town has taken a progressive step forward with the inauguration of the sanitary land fill dump program and the application of the ordinance and the regulations that govern the new program. However, the job is not yet done. Houlton is faced with a problem that has confronted every other town and city in the country. The problem has a solution and the Town Council has started the machinery to correct the situation.

We became aware of the problem while attending the meeting of the Town Council on Monday evening. The first item on the agenda was the hearing on applications for junk yard permits. Perhaps you have taken junk yards for granted but they are a very much needed business for any community. If they were not in business where would the old car, antique refrigerator, broken lawnmower and hundreds of other items accumulated throughout the Town be disposed of? We now have a respectable home for our garbage, but where will our metal go? Houlton needs a metal graveyard. One of the junk yard operators informed Council that national statistics indicate that one of every car on the road will be junked within the year. If this is the case, then the accumulation of other metal items added to the junked cars in the course of a year can become a problem.

Metal graveyards are being created in many other communities. An old gravel pit or ravine that can not serve any other purpose is an ideal site. Council has appointed a committee to investigate a possible location and start making plans for a metal dump for the community.

The problem for the junk yard dealers arises when the remains of their junked cars can not be removed from public view. There are laws that the State is now going to enforce to the letter, and with this we agree. Yet, even individuals are subject to complaint and if a complaint is made each and every one of us is subject to fines of $100 for violation.

We encourage the State to take a positive stand on enforcing the laws that have been on the books since 1943. We are not in favor of littering the landscape anymore than we favor pollution. The Town needs a metal dump and Council intends to provide one. Then we hope that the law will be enforced to the letter.

Views of Other Editors

Reforming A Behemoth

Horns are beeping more loudly and with greater irritation than ever at the cost, unfairness, and cumbersomeness of America's auto insurance practices. The charges:

Rates have risen 44 percent in the last 10 years — why?

Only 55 percent of the premium is used to pay claims — why?

Why does compensation for minor accidents tend to exceed actual losses, while major accident losses often go unreimbursed?

Why have some auto insurance companies discouraged giving policies to such incongruous groups as clergymen, divorcees, barbers?

Must cancellation and renewal practices be capricious and arbitrary?

Must legal processes for settling claims be so costly and take so long?

Auto insurance by any standards is a major business. More than 100 million Americans hold policies costing them about $10 billion in premiums. Few would argue that such a behemoth should be allowed to make its way down the highway blindly and without challenge.

The industry already has been under study in various ways. For example, the House Judiciary Committee last year reported too warm a relationship between insurance companies and the state commissions supposedly governing them.

The Senate Judiciary Committee has just begun hearings on anticompetitive company practices and the questionable adequacy of state regulation. And the Department of Transportation is firing up its engine for an ambitious two-year, comprehensive study of the industry. The DOT will issue periodic reports.

We welcome this scrutiny. We hope it will be toughminded and fair — to the consumer, the legal profession, and insurers.

The present liability system — paying claims on the basis of whose fault the accident was — will certainly be challenged and alternative "non-fault" systems proposed. These would settle claims purely on the basis of loss. Opposition can be expected from lawyers, one third of whose income is earned in automobile accident cases. Creation of a federal program, similar to the workman's compensation system, will also be considered — and will stir sharp debate.

But no matter how unwieldy the issues may be, auto insurance is in need of reform.

Two-thirds of all losses still go uncovered. There needs to be greater uniformity of insurance practices across the state lines. And there should be more consistency in protecting the insured from the uninsured.

(Christian Science Monitor)

equally important, the flavor of that sad, aimless, upperclass group from which they came, so unrepresentative of their country's best and so damaging to its interest.

Philby, the central character, was a man with "two separate sides to his head." The side presented to the world was an obviously trustworthy product of a good Cambridge college who entered the secret service intelligence in 1940, set up a special new section to deal with the Soviet Union in 1944, and was sent in 1949 to represent the British in Washington.

"The other side of the head" was the real Philby, a lifelong Communist recruited early by the Soviet intelligence organization who never felt any real loyalty to the British causes he pretended to serve. He was the link between the British service and the American Central Intelligence Agency from which position he was able to betray every important secret of Western intelligence. He is now said to live in comparative affluence in Moscow and holds a Soviet decoration.

The authors, Bruce Page, David Leitch, and Phillip Knightley, part of the "insight team" of London's Sunday Times, spent months interviewing everyone who had known Philby in a social or business way, and at times this twilight world of espionage seems too far-fetched for even fiction. It is an intriguing story of strange men and a strange period.

Published every Wednesday at 23 Court street, Houlton, Maine, 04730, by the Northeast Publishing Company, an Aroostook County corporation.

BLEAK OUTLOOK

Washington Highlights TV And Crime

By Ray Vernon

All the laws in the world to control the sale of guns won't be worth a tinker's dam if the television industry continues to spew out the violence that erupts day and night in the living room of virtually every home in America.

Perhaps the adult mind is mature enough to perceive that all this mahem and murder is sheer fiction. What it is doing to the minds of our children, God only knows.

There is a good chance enough blood has now been spilled on the living room floor that an indignant America will force the TV industry to cut out violence.

Certainly the mood in official Washington is ripe to get something done and the sooner the better.

Just last week 50 members of Congress demanded that the Federal Communications Commission, which licenses TV stations, launch an investigation into this video violence.

FCC chairman Rosel H. Hyde favors such an investigation. He'd rather, though, that it be conducted by an independent group rather than by the Commission. And with good reason. This would only subject the Commission to charges of "censorship" which is a nasty word in the communications business.

Television programs which feature excessive violence tend to reinforce overly aggressive attitudes and drives in juvenile viewers where such attitudes and drives already exist.

Children can learn to perform aggressive acts by exposure to such acts of violence on television.

Children are adversely affected by isolated scenes or sequences of violence and brutality and this adverse effect is not necessarily washed away or purged by a "moral" ending in which "good" triumphs over "evil."

How much of a connection there is between this violence on the TV screen and the alarming increase in juvenile delinquency is not known. But the experts suspect there is a direct connection.

The Editor's Corner

As the deadline for copy draws near, the fear is often present that the material for one or more good front page stories will not always be available. As in the past, this need not have worried this writer.

Today is no exception and as this column is being written there is either fact or now substantiated rumor that the sugar beet planting will exceed 30,000 acres, the Prestile Stream has been dammed, there will be a recount of the votes cast for Jasper Lycette and Malcolm Berman in the June primary election and one of the members of the Houlton Town Council has proposed a mass resignation of that group.

The only comment that can be made at this time is that by the time these matters are clarified and printed, it will be time to worry about next week.

Main Street, U. S. A. Poverty Is On The Decline

By Bert Mills

Washington, D. C. — American Indians have been in the national spotlight recently because a band of them participated in the Poor People's Campaign and demonstrated at the Supreme Court against a decision unfavorable to Indians.

There are about 600,000 Indians in the U. S. today, including Aleuts and Eskimos. More than half of them live in trust lands under the jurisdiction of the Secretary of the Interior. All Indians born within the U. S. are American citizens, under a 1924 law.

Indians are not wards of the government, although Indian property is held in trust. Indians are not restricted to their reservations but may move freely like other citizens. They may vote and hold office. Rep. Benjamin Rieff (R., S. D.), a Sioux, is in his fourth term as a member of Congress.

Indians do not automatically receive Federal aid. Tribes or individuals may be reimbursed for losses resulting from treaty violations or encroachments on lands or interests reserved to the tribe. Tribes or individuals may receive government checks for income from their land or resources.

Indians may own property, and since 1953 they have been able to purchase liquor like other citizens, in off-reservation areas. Prohibition remains in effect on most reservations, but 55 tribes have exercised their right to local option.

Birth Rate Double U. S. Average

When Columbus discovered America, the Indian population was estimated at 840,000. Four hundred years later, the total was reduced due to a smallpox epidemic and war casualties to about 243,000. Since then the trend has been strongly upward. The Indian birth rate is about double that of the rest of the U. S.

The Bureau of Indian Affairs was established in the War Department in 1824, and has been a part of the Interior Department since its creation in 1849. The Bureau seeks to help Indians attain economic self-sufficiency. The 1968 budget of the Bureau was $241 million.

Few of the 290 Indian reservations have enough resources to support their residents.

These reservations range from tiny to huge. The Navajo Reservation in Arizona, New Mexico and Utah comprises 14 million acres, larger than several states combined. There are 10 other reservations with more than 1 million acres. Four are in Arizona, two each in Washington and South Dakota, and one each in Wyoming and Montana.

Indian lands are used to grow crops, raise timber, and to produce mineral and petroleum products. Some lands are leased for commercial and recreational development. Efforts are being made to encourage non-agricultural enterprises.

$667 Spent Per Indian

In addition to the $241 million budget of the Bureau of Indian Affairs, a number of other Federal programs aid Indians. Total annual spending is about $400 million, or about $667 a year for every Indian. The militant tribesmen, such as those recently demonstrating in Washington, do not regard that as nearly enough.

The Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, which has a Division of Indian Health, spent $111.6 million on Indian programs last year. Various War on Poverty programs administered by the Office of Economic Opportunity, added another $32 million, and the Department of Commerce about $26 million. Lesser amounts were allocated by four other departments.

The educational level of Indians is on the rise but much remains to be done. In 1900, more than half of the Indians could not speak, read, and write English. The illiteracy rate was down to 25 percent by 1930 and to 12 percent in 1959. However, there are no Indian colleges and only five Federal schools offering vocational training beyond the high school level.

For those interested in further facts on the Indian problem, the Bureau of Indian Affairs has produced a new pamphlet called "Answers to Your Questions About American Indians." It is on sale for 25 cents from the Superintendent of Documents, U. S. Government Printing Office Washington, D. C. 20402.

A Look At Congress With William C. Hathaway

Congressman, Second Maine District

For the past week, the eyes of the U. S. maritime industry have been focussed upon Maine.

The plan announced a week ago by Governor Kenneth M. Curtis and the New England Regional Commission to develop a deep-water world port at Machiasport naturally elicited great interest and enthusiastic support throughout Maine. No less interested is the U. S. shipping industry, because the availability of the new port, one with water depths exceeding 100 feet even close to shore, would provide on-shore berthing space for the super-tankers of the present and yet even larger ships contemplated for the future.

The demand for super tankers, 115 of them falling in the 200,000 ton or larger class are currently on order, developed last year when the Arab-Israeli war shut down the Suez Canal.

With the Canal closed, and it still is, the emphasis has been on larger ships to carry more oil on the longer voyage around South Africa's Cape of Good Hope.

Forecasters predict that by 1968, an average of 4.2 million barrels of oil will be moved around the Cape daily. The Oil and Gas Journal, a leading fuel industry publication, recently estimated that by 1972 the world tanker fleet will include 150 vessels in the 200,000 to 300,000 dead weight ton range.

WILLIAMSTOWN AUTOMATED IRRIGATION

Irrigates One Acre with One Inch of Water in One Hour
COMPLETELY UNATTENDED — LABOR FREE

- We are proud to present the Tico Traveler, one of the greatest advances in the history of modern irrigation. This remarkable machine makes it possible to irrigate areas which have never been irrigable before. In other words, you can now water relatively low value crops such as hay and natural pasture easily and inexpensively.
- Another important point is that the Tico Traveler needs no separate gas engine and fuel system for propulsion. It's powered by the same water being sent to the sprinkler. Operating range is from zero to five feet per minute. Precipitation range is from a half inch of water up to six inches.

IRRIGATION SYSTEM

The Thunderbird System combines a convenient end-drive mechanism with drive shaft and planetary transmissions to provide true lateral movement over the entire length of the line. This exclusive power train allows one-man day or night operation from the main line end of the system. The engine can be attached and removed in a few seconds when changing locations of the system.
